

Season 4 Episode 6

Energy Enigma

A red with gold linings spherical building has energy flowing through the gold linings which serve as veins. This spherical building is located in the center of San Francisco California and is completely surrounded by an electrified barbwire protective barrier. Jason and Mason are in Mason's lab at the peak of day and Jason looks out the window at the sphere while Mason is working on a dual-bladed chainsaw weapon. Jason said, "That ball out there has been there longer than anyone remembers and yet, no one ever goes there or comes out of it or even knows what it is." Mason said, "Our world is filled with unsolved mysteries. Some things are more important than a stupid sphere. Like this weapon I just finished making." Mason holds up his new dual-bladed chainsaw high over himself. Jason looks at it in awe and he takes it out of Mason's hands. Jason looks around it and he said, "How do you turn this thing on?" Mason said, "You press the green button on the handle." Jason turns it on and he spins the blades around and he forms a devilish demonic grin. Jason said, "This is awesome. We can completely destroy our enemies with this. No one is going to want to mess with us anymore." Jason fumbles the weapon and it falls and cuts the bottom of his left arm. Jason screeches in pain and he looks at his long cut wound and it is orange. Jason and Mason's eyes go big as they look at the wound and they see orange blood dripping from it. Jason said, "Why is my blood orange?" Mason said, "It is probably a side effect of all the orange soda you have been drinking lately." Jason said, "That would mean my blood is orange soda." Jason sucks on his wound and he said, "This is tasty. It tastes like orange soda with extra sugar and flavoring. Now I know what I do when I want a real orange soda experience." Mason gives Jason a stern look and he said, "I will go perfect my other dual-bladed chainsaw."

Everything in Mason's lab violently thumps. Equipment falls over and Jason said, "Is this another earthquake?" Jason and Mason look out a window and they see giants walk over the city and they crush buildings and things with their boots. They are dressed in army camouflage green and they have masks that completely cover their heads and they have black barrels where the eyes are supposed to be.

Jason and Mason run outside of the lab and they are on the street in front of their house. They see the giants are heading for the sphere. Jason said, "What the hell are those things?" Mason said, "Whatever they are, they are heading for the sphere." Keith randomly shows up next to Jason and Mason. Keith said, "What are you going to do about this, call Captain Fusion?" Jason said, "That sounds like a good idea." Keith said, "Forget it. These monsters are strong and powerful. I can take them out easy." Keith jumps in a fighter jet that has his name painted on it and he zips off to take on the giants.

The air force fighters enter the San Francisco sky and they engage in combat against the giants. They open fire with machine guns on the giants. The giants wave their arms around and they smack and destroy most of the air force fighters. Keith zips around the giants. Keith fires cables down and they attach between buildings. Keith zips away and two of the giants trip on the cable and they fall over and crush and destroy more of the city. Keith looks down at the crashed giants and he said, "Score one for me." A giant hand unexpectedly picks up Keith's fighter. The giant takes Keith out of the fighter and he holds onto Keith tightly. Keith said, "You don't want to kill me. I have what you want. I can invent things for you. I can get you anything." The giant throws Keith to the street and his body crashes in front of Jason and Mason and Keith's body gets broken and mangled and he is covered with orange liquid. Jason and Mason's eyes go big in horror. Jason said, "Is that..." Jason takes a sample of Keith's blood and he drinks it and he said, "Keith has orange soda blood too." Jason keeps indulging on Keith's blood while Mason gives Jason outraged looks.

The giants go for the sphere and they rip it out of the ground and the power goes out to the entirety of the city. Captain Fusion finds Jason and Mason out on the street and he grabs onto Jason and Mason's arms and said, "We cannot stay in this city. We must get out of here." Captain Fusion takes Jason and Mason to the Fusion Wing and they zip away from the giants. Jason and Mason watch the giants walk away into the far distance. Jason said, "What are those things anyways? Why would they want that thing no one knows about?" Captain Fusion said, "I have no idea what they are or what that thing was they just stole. I think they might be aliens. That sphere may have been constructed by aliens which would explain why no one knows anything about it. I remember seeing that sphere all the time when I was a kid and no one knew what it was." Captain Fusion makes the Fusion Wing fly far from the city. They then appear to be flying through a white abyss. Captain Fusion turns on additional radars on the Fusion Wing and it shows they are flying through a very large and oversized hallway with futuristic sliding doors. Jason looks at the view and he said, "We must be in the giants' stronghold." Mason said, "I guess that would explain the oversized doors." Captain Fusion heads for a dead end and a sliding door opens up on the left. Captain Fusion swerves the Fusion Wing so it flies through the open door. They come across a bedroom with a desk and there is a giant that looks like a human with a somewhat short and plump body with glasses and curly hair that sticks up. The giant looks at the Fusion Wing and he takes out a remote and presses a button on it. Captain Fusion frantically presses all the buttons and controls in the Fusion Wing and Captain Fusion said, "I have lost control."

The Fusion Wing lands on the desk under the eyes of the giant. The giant presses another button on the controller and Jason, Mason, and Captain Fusion pop out of the Fusion Wing and they are left on the desk under the giant's view. Jason and Mason are scared and Captain Fusion raises a fist to the giant and he said, "You better have a good explanation for this carnage and brutality you forced on our city." The giant said, "I am Dr. Mordock. I created your city." Jason and Mason give each other weird looks. Dr. Mordock said, "You have been living your entire lives in a San Francisco model city that I built as a means of protection for my Energy Sphere." Jason and Mason said, "Energy Sphere?" Dr. Mordock said, "I invented that Energy Sphere." Dr. Mordock goes into a story with flashbacks...

Dr. Mordock said, "For years I have been experimenting with alternative energy sources. I stumbled across a rare energy source found deep in a chasm on an obscure island in Oceana. It is a small crystallike ball that contains a very small almost molecular dynamo that can be used to power most of the world for years on end. It was located on an island where the only inhabitants are tribal people that have no concept of energy or electricity. They let me take the energy source and I managed to utilize it using my technology. I embedded it into a red sphere which is made out of a thick plasma. Governments and people from around the world were willing to pay me several lifetimes worth of fortunes so they can have this energy source but I turned down all of their offers. I wanted to put it to good use. I would bring it to remote and impoverished countries to give them energy and to help them solve their energy crisis. This power source caught the attention of an alien race that invaded and subjugated an entire quadrant of the galaxy. They want this energy source to power their advanced weaponry and their attack ships. They want to invade earth but they can't since they are having a severe energy shortage. These aliens called the Clamgon people are under the rule of a dictator known as Callistio. He has been sending his people to this planet for years in search of my energy source. I needed to hide it and protect it as best as I could and the best protection plan I came up with was building a model of ancient San Francisco. I studied the ancient San Francisco and I came across documentations of your adventures. I became fascinated with your history and your adventures." Dr. Mordock shows Jason and Mason a photo of them with Captain Fusion in Mason's lab. Dr. Mordock continues, "I learned everything there is to know about yourselves and I built robotic figures that run programs that perfectly emulate what you were. I altered Mason's program a bit. I knew these Clamgon aliens would come looking for my energy source so I programmed Mason to invest his intellect in building weapons. I even gave his lab the hidden feature to turn into a small battle starship."

Jason, Mason, and Captain Fusion are in Mason's lab and they go through weapons while Dr. Mordock stands over them. Jason said, "So you're the reason why we all have orange soda for blood?" Dr. Mordock said, "Orange soda is filled with ions which react well to my energy source. I combined them to create an orange soda-based fuel that powers all the figures I built. That is why I keep a small stash of orange soda in my starship. I added more energy alloys into Captain Fusion's blood so it would make him more powerful. I tried to make the three of you as accurate to your original selves as much as possible." Mason said, "We are small and these aliens are quite large compared to us? How are we going to go after them?" Dr. Mordock said, "I built your small lab replica with a hidden secret. It can be transformed into a fully working starship. It also has a suction cup so it can attach to Callistio's ship and you will be able to use the lab to create an incision in the ship. You will enter the ship through the vent. You will go to the security systems and you will be small enough to fit inside of their computer where you will destroy their systems. Once you do that, you will search for the Energy Sphere and you will contact me through the communicator when you find it. I examined the arsenal that Mason built over the years. It looks adequate enough to take on Callistio's forces." Jason said, "I take it you have some idea of where the sphere went." Dr. Mordock said, "Of course I did. I am tracking it right now. The tracking is not accurate but it can tell me what ship it is on. It is telling me it is on a Clamgon vessel and it seems to be staying in earth's orbit. This doesn't look good. I think I know why it is in orbit. I've study my enemy so I know how they work and how their ships are built."

Jason, Mason, and Captain Fusion are in silver and white space aged battle suits and they are seated in chairs around the main controls in Mason's lab. Dr. Mordock controls his ship so it is in range of Callistio's ship. Dr. Mordock said, "I got a lock on the ship. I am sending you off now." The lab is blasted out of a cannon from the ship and it zips to the outer hull of Callistio's ship. The lab attaches to the ship. Mason controls the incision cutter and he makes the lab cut a hole below it. Jason, Mason, and Captain Fusion jump into the vent of the ship. Mason looks at a handheld device with a screen and it has a map of the ship. Mason said, "We seem to be in the upper vent and the security control room must be this way." Mason points in a direction.

Jason, Mason, and Captain Fusion get confronted by these bizarre mutant bats with long claws and large sharp wings. Jason freaks and hides behind Mason. Mason takes out a dual-bladed chainsaw and he slices one of the bats in half. Mason said, "Our chainsaws seem to be adequate enough." Captain Fusion punches one the bats down and he steps on its head crushing it. Captain Fusion smacks one bat down and he back punches another one in the face. One bat zips in front of Captain Fusion and it uses its sharp claw to make a horizontal cut on Captain Fusion's gut. A jagged orange wound is left on Captain Fusion where orange blood drips out from several angles. Mason cuts down the remaining bats. Captain Fusion falls down in pain. Jason and Mason help him up. Mason said, "You still seem to be much stronger than us. You are our most valuable player." Jason drinks a sample of Captain Fusion's orange blood and Mason gives Jason an angered look.

They arrive at the security room. Jason, Mason, and Captain Fusion connect harpoons to the vent and they slide down and they find a vent on the side of the large security computer terminal. Jason, Mason, and Captain Fusion jump into the computer vent and they see the computer systems working. Mason takes out a guide and he said, "The main system wires seem to connect to the main motherboard." They stand around the motherboard that has black wires with green flowing through them into the motherboard. Mason disconnects the wires and the motherboard still appears to functioning. Mason uses his communicator. Mason said, "Dr. Mordock, are you reading anything on the security system being down?" Dr. Mordock said, "The security readings are still showing up on my scanner." Mason said, "I disconnected everything like what the blueprints have shown. What else is there?" Jason takes out his dual-bladed chainsaw and he cuts the top of the motherboard off revealing the insides. Mason looks into the motherboard and he said, "I guess there is something more to disconnect." Mason touches a circuit board and the entire inside of the ship goes red and an alarm blares. Mason said, "We must have triggered something." Jason said, "Leave this to the expert. I know everything there is to know about taking down these computer systems." Jason cracks open a can of orange soda and he pours it down the motherboard and it sparks up and smoke comes off it and the alarm is killed. The outside casing of the computer is removed and the same giants that attacked the city have their beady eyes on Jason, Mason, and Captain Fusion.

The Clamgons have Jason, Mason, and Captain Fusion in a jar. They take it to the main bridge where there is a large machine that looks like it is composed of sharp round cones and spheres and a red round headed alien in a black cloak with a spiral lollipop necklace stands in front of it. The Clamgons with the jar said, "Master Callistio, we have found the intruders that triggered the alarm." Callistio grabs onto the jar and he said, "Ah, yes. The intruders. You were probably after this." Callistio reveals he has the Energy Sphere connected into the machine. Callistio said, "Whatever faith you have in your planet is gone." Callistio flicks a small switch on the machine and it utilizes the energy from the sphere and it transmits it to ground assault crafts they have on the surface of earth. The ground assault crafts start blasting down buildings and zapping people all over the world. Callistio said, "I am your ruler now. You also appear to be small in size. I know your species. No member of your species is that small. You must have been made small like that and sent here by someone else. Who sent you?" Mason presses a button on his communicator and it sends a distress call to Dr. Mordock. Jason said, "Yo mama sent us here because she is ticked with you taking things that don't belong to you. Didn't your parents ever teach you not to take anything that doesn't belong to you, you wild animal!" Callistio said, "I never had any parents.

You don't need parents to be successful. Look at me, I am the ruler of the Clamgon world and soon, yours."

Some of the Clamgons escort Dr. Mordock dressed as a pizza delivery guy holding a pizza box into the bridge. One of the escort giants said, "Sir, this guy claims he has a pizza for you." Callistio said, "Ah, one of earth's greatest wonders. I didn't order one but I would gladly accept." Dr. Mordock said, "It is complimentary. It is a reward from the people of earth for finally conquering them." Callistio takes the pizza and he opens it up and a spring comes out and it smashes the pizza into his face burning his face. Callistio yells, "It burns!" Dr. Mordock opens the jar and he pours Jason, Mason, and Captain Fusion out onto the floor. Clamgons come for Dr. Mordock and he smashes the jar and he uses it to cut down the giants. Two of the giants grab onto the arms of Dr. Mordock and the three heroes run to the device where the Energy Sphere rests high above them on a raised platform. Clamgons surround the heroes. One of the Clamgons uses his foot and he tries to kick Jason, Mason, and Captain Fusion. Another Clamgon raises his foot over Captain Fusion and tries to smoosh him but Captain Fusion grabs onto the Clamgon's foot. Captain Fusion holds it in place while the other Clamgons try squashing Jason and Mason. Captain Fusion uses his strength and he pushes the Clamgon backwards and the Clamgon falls over and smacks his head on a table that the jar was on earlier. The Clamgons holding Dr. Mordock release him and they go to fight the heroes.

One of the Clamgons kicks Mason and Mason flies into a wall and his body structure breaks up. The foot comes again and it smooshes Mason leaving him as a pile of broken up plastic in a puddle of flowing orange soda. Jason is about to get kicked and Captain Fusion jumps and he grabs onto the front of the foot. Captain Fusion clings to the front of the foot and the foot rams into the backwall and Captain Fusion's body is smooshed and a waterfall of orange soda is formed from him. Captain Fusion's body falls to the floor. Jason sees the Clamgons coming for him. Jason also spots Mason and Captain Fusion's bodies that are engulfed with orange soda. Jason runs for Captain Fusion and he drinks his orange soda blood. Jason grows stronger and he lifts Captain Fusion's body and squeezes the rest out of him and Jason grows strong and mighty. Jason grabs Mason's dual-bladed chainsaw and Jason grabs his. Jason uses the chainsaws to dig into the support post to climb up to where the Energy Sphere is while the Clamgons try to punch him down. A fist comes for Jason and Jason sends one of the chainsaws into the fist and it cuts the Clamgon's hand. Jason climbs up to the sphere and he jumps into the red plasma. Dr. Mordock is ignored in the background and he runs away. Callistio's face recovers and he spots Dr. Mordock running away.

Dr. Mordock heads for the docking bay where his ship is painted to look like a pizza delivery ship. Dr. Mordock is about to jump in and Callistio grabs his leg. Callistio said, "You are not getting off that easy." Dr. Mordock smacks Callistio's burned head and it does nothing. Callistio said, "I am much stronger than you."

Jason is in the energy sphere where it is red and there is a small orange beanlike nucleus in the center that is connected to several orange veins. Jason uses the dual-bladed chainsaws and he cuts the orange wiring and it causes an implosion that engulfs all matter around the Energy Sphere.

Callistio has a tight grip on Dr. Mordock. Dr. Mordock stretches his arms and body into the side of his ship. He sees a shelf with orange soda cans on it. He grabs one and he shakes it and opens it in Callistio's face. Callistio releases Dr. Mordock in pain and he yells, "Not again! You rubbed acid in a wound!" Dr. Mordock closes the door to his ship and he escapes with the effects of Jason destroying the Energy Sphere missing the ship by the thinnest of margins. Callistio's ship is destroyed in a large green flash. All the Clamgon attack crafts on earth malfunction and stop working.

Callistio and his ship and everything inside it is now gone and all that is left is a fluid green patch that is fluctuating in earth's orbit. Dr. Mordock flies around the green patch and he said, "It looks like a new substance was formed in the destruction of the Energy Sphere. It looks like the energy from my sphere was so powerful that it destroyed the fabric of time in this specific section. This patch appears to have time travel potential. I better stop Mordock's followers from getting any ideas."